PRESENTERS

Dr. Terry Morrow is currently the Assistant Dean of Student Affairs in the College of Allied Health and Nursing at Nova Southeastern University. Previously, she was the Director of the Office of Student Leadership and Civic Engagement at Nova Southeastern University where she oversaw the following areas: Leadership Development, Spiritual Life, Multicultural Affairs, Civic Engagement, International Student Affairs, and the Student Government Association. Dr. Morrow served on the Florida Board of the National Association of Student PersonnelAdministrators as the Co-Chair of the Student Leadership Programs Knowledge Community for five years and is the Co-Chair of the South Florida Diversity Alliance. Her passions include cultivating human potential with individuals and within systems, promoting inter-group dialogue, and fostering civic engagement. She earned her Ph.D. in Conflict Analysis and Resolution and believes that we must cultivate individual and community strengths as well as collaboratively address the challenges that hinder our collective potential. Dr. Morrow has lobbied for HR 808, a bill in Congress that will create a platform for peace in our communities, schools, families and world. Her mission statement is “To serve God as an agent of peace.”

Brenda Cleaver has more than thirty years of Federal Government service with the US Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD). She has been employed at HOPE, Inc. since 2006, where she coordinates training, seminars and workshops on fair housing and receives and helps process complaints regarding housing discrimination.

Kelly Concannon Mannise, Ph.D., Assistant Professor, Division of Humanities, Nova Southeastern University, received her doctoral degree in composition and rhetoric from Syracuse University in 2008. Her scholarship is inextricably linked to her pedagogy and practice, as she examines how to utilize classroom spaces to produce powerful and complex conditions for teaching and learning. Concannon Mannise encourages global awareness and responsibility, which she situates as central to various literacy practices.

Allison Brimmer teaches writing and cultural studies as an Assistant Professor of Humanities at Nova Southeastern University. She earned her Ph.D. in Rhetoric and Composition and holds M.A. degrees in Women’s Studies and English literature. Dr. Brimmer reads and writes about service learning, white privilege and feminist, anti-racist pedagogy. She is an active member of the South Florida Diversity Alliance and the Nova Southeastern University branch of the American Association of University Women. She is a coordinator of curricular and co-curricular university-community collaboration with NSU-AAUW, the university’s joint community use library, and the PACE Center for Girls.

Nova Southeastern University American Association of University Women. The NSU branch of AAUW, which is open to the community, was formed by a group of students in fall 2006. With over 100,000 members nationwide, AAUW’s mission is advancing equity for women and girls through advocacy, education, philanthropy, and research.

Elizabeth Massy, senior, undergraduate student at Nova Southeastern University.
Massy will be graduating with a degree in Environmental Studies, pursuing a further degree in International Administration. She is Vice President of the Student Chapter of Environmental Pre-Professionals and works in the Humanities department as a Composition Fellow.
Lee Milstein brings a unique set of skills and experience to the diversity and inclusion and multicultural training, facilitating, and consulting environments. He has traveled, resided, and worked professionally in more than 35 countries, where he has dedicated his energies to cross-cultural change management for educational institutions, global businesses, and international organizations. Lee is a Certified Professional Facilitator and Cross Cultural Trainer for DAPA Diversity and a speaker for One Planet United.

Piero Falci is a trainer and coaching professional. He is the author of “Pay Attention! Be Alert! Discovering your Route to Happiness,” and a sought-after speaker, moderator, and master of ceremonies. He is an expert in the field of Diversity & Inclusion, having developed and facilitated a series of cultural competency and sensitivity enhancing workshops through DAPA - Diversity and Inclusion Training. He is the Program Director of One Planet United, a not-for-profit educational organization dedicated to inspire people to “embrace diversity, promote unity, and create community.”

Cheryl Duckworth is a professor of Conflict Resolution at Nova Southeastern University. She has lived in Zimbabwe and Paraguay, and published and presented globally on her two passions, peace education and peace economics, exploring ways to transform the economic, political, social and psychological root causes of war and violence. Her more recent publications include her book which explores the role of dignity in social movements, Land and Dignity in Paraguay, and an article on her implementation of critical peace education curriculum in a juvenile detention home. Cheryl has trained hundreds of students, teachers and community leaders in peace education and conflict resolution both in the US and internationally. Currently she serves as the faculty advisor of NSU’s Peace Education Working Group and on the Advisory Board of the Hope Development Organization, a women’s rights and peace building organization in Pakistan.

Dr. Laura Finley, Ph.D., earned her doctorate degree in sociology from Western Michigan University in 2002. Since then, she has taught sociology, criminology, women’s studies, and education at several colleges and universities in Michigan, Colorado, and Florida. She is currently Assistant Professor of Sociology and Criminology at Barry University. In addition, she has provided training and directed social change and prevention programs for a domestic violence agency in Florida. In 2008, Dr. Finley started the Center for Living and Teaching Peace, which provides training, education, curricula, and events related to peace and social justice. She also serves on the Board of Directors of No More Tears, a non-profit organization devoted to providing individualized assistance to victims of domestic violence and their children.

Dr. Mayra Ruiz Camacho is an Assistant Professor at Lynn University’s Ross College of Education, the Faculty Advisor for the University’s Best Buddies Chapter, and Coordinator of Project ACCESS.

Peter Robinson, MBA, MSW is the President of PFLAG Ft. Lauderdale. He has been facilitating LGBTQ and HIV/AIDS groups for the past 28 years. Peter lives with his partner of 34 years, Dan, and is the proud father of Michael and devoted grandfather to Judah.

Barbara Barry is Professor of Musicology at the Conservatory of Music at Lynn University. She has five degrees in music – two in piano performance from Trinity College of Music, London, and three in music history and theory from the University of London, including a PhD awarded ‘magna cum laude’.

Dr. Peter Finley is a faculty member in the Sport and Recreation Management program in the Huizenga Business School. He teaches sport ethics, sport law, and sociology of sports courses.
Dr. Jeffrey Fountain is a faculty member in the Sport and Recreation Management program in the Huizenga Business School. He teaches sport finance and economics, sport marketing, and college athletic administration courses.

Felicia Hatcher is a speaker, author, entrepreneur and super cool person! She is the author of "The "C" Students Guide to Scholarships" A creative guide to finding scholarships when your grades suck and your parents are broke! and “How to Start a Business on a Ramen Noodle Budget.”

Khalique Ahmed is an award winning professor, author of dozens of research papers in international journals, op-ed writer for the Sun Sentinel, Palm Beach Post and other international newspapers, and an internationally and nationally invited speaker at conferences and meetings.

Christina Johnson graduated with a Bachelor of Arts in Physical and Health Education from Saginaw Valley State University. She has a Master of Arts in Student Affairs Administration in Higher Education from Ball State University and is currently the Director of Campus Recreation at Lynn University. Christina has interest in diverse people, thought, and experiences. She seeks opportunities to learn and grow from others. A new experience makes for an excellent learning opportunity.

Steve Hunsicker is the South Florida recruiter for the US Peace Corps. Before being hired by Peace Corps, Steve was a volunteer in the Kingdom of Tonga, where he helped local people start or improve their businesses. Prior to that, Steve spent 23 years in television station management.

Carlos Roa is a sophomore at Miami Dade College studying architecture. He is involved in Miami Dade College Wolfs on Campus, SWER, The Trail of Dreams, and a National Organizer with Presente.org.

Antonella Sánchez is a freshman psychology major at Nova Southeastern University. She is involved in the Razor’s Edge Leadership Program, Relay For Life Committee, Psychology Club, and NSU SWER.

Diego Sánchez is a senior psychology and global leadership major and international relations minor at St. Thomas University. He is involved in the Student Government Association, the Steering Committee of the Florida Immigrant Youth Network, and Broward County SWER.

Mildred Duprey de Robles is a conciliator specialist in the Department of Justice Community Relations Service’s Field Office in Miami, Florida. She has practiced in the area of human relations and conflict resolution for the past 29 years. She is a retired U.S. Air Force officer and a court-certified mediator for workplace, equal opportunity, family, and special education matters.

Roland Alexander Foulkes is a native of Fort Lauderdale and a graduate of the Pine Crest Preparatory School, Cornell University, and the University of California-Berkeley. Locally, Foulkes is both the founder and chief strategist for ONE BROWARD (the Social/Cultural/Political/Economic Change Initiative), Diversity Committee Chair (School Board of Broward County), Hiring Practices and Procedures Committee Chair (Broward Sheriff’s Office Council for Diversity and Equal Opportunity), Multi-Ethnic Advisory Board/Diversity Advisory Council Past Chair (Broward County Commission), and a Cultural Competence Diversity Inclusion and Equity Consultant and Trainer for the National Center for Cultural Competency (Georgetown University), among numerous other organizations.
PANELISTS
PROMOTING DIVERSITY AND INCLUSION IN THE WORKFORCE: PERSPECTIVES FROM SOUTH FLORIDA ORGANIZATIONAL LEADERS

Dr. Alvin B. Jackson, Jr., is an accomplished senior executive with over 26 years of experience in local government. Dr. Jackson is a graduate of the University of Maryland, where he obtained his Bachelors in Government and Politics. He earned a Master’s and Doctorate (Ph.D.) in Ministry from The Thomas Brown Seminary in Jacksonville. He knows first-hand the ins-and-outs of local governments, as well as the benefits of coordinating and working closely with regional, state and federal partners to achieve mutual goals and objectives. Dr. Jackson was recently appointed by Mark Antonio, the City manager, to the position of Director for the Hallandale Beach Community Redevelopment Agency.

Larry McIntyre is Special Project Coordinator, Florida Department of Economic Opportunity. Larry McIntyre has been involved in the administration and management of workforce development programs in the Department of Economic Development, the Agency for Workforce Innovation and the Florida Department of Labor and Employment Security for nearly twenty-seven years. Larry works with other agencies, internal management, program staff, and regional partners in implementing new statewide initiatives. Some recent efforts that he has been involved in include: Florida Careers and Professional Education Act (CAPE)-An initiative to provide industry certifications to Florida’s High School Students and other job seekers; Ready to Work-a new employee credentialing program that tests and scores students’ and job seekers’ skills and work habits; and Health Coverage Tax Credits-An Internal Revenue Service initiative that provides health insurance assistance for dislocated workers.

William (Bill) Malone is Superintendent of the School District of Palm Beach County. He was former Chief Operating Officer and Chief of Facilities for the School District of Palm Beach County. In addition, he was former Deputy Executive Director, South Florida Water Management District. Superintendent Malone spent twenty-one years of service with the United States Army, including four years as Deputy District Engineer, US Corps of Engineers, Nashville, Tennessee. He holds a Bachelor of Engineering, civil engineering, with honors from Vanderbilt University, Nashville, TN.

Dr. Bahaudin G. Mujtaba is currently a professor of Management and Human Resources Management at Nova Southeastern University’s H. Wayne Huizenga School of Business and Entrepreneurship. Bahaudin has been serving as a faculty member at the Huizenga School since 1996. Bahaudin was given the prestigious annual “Faculty of the Year Award” in 2011 and 2005.

Robert W. Runcie is the Superintendent of Broward County Public Schools, the nation’s sixth-largest public school district and the largest fully accredited public school system in the country, with nearly 234,000 students in more than 230 schools and education centers and 68 charter schools. He became the 19th permanent leader in the 94-year history of Broward County Public Schools in October of 2011. Mr. Runcie began his career as a staff consultant for Arthur Andersen (now Accenture) in 1984. He was the founder and President of Advanced Data Concepts from 1998 to 2003. He served Chicago Public Schools from 2003 to 2009 as Chief Information Officer, from 2009 to 2011 as Chief Administrative Officer, and his last position there was as Chief Area Instructional Officer.

Nadine Smith has been executive director of Equality Florida since its inception in 1997, and was executive director of its predecessor, the Human Rights Task Force of Florida prior to that. She joined the organization in 1993 after serving as one of four national co-chairs on the 1993 March on Washington and taking part in the historic, first-ever meeting between LGBT leaders and a sitting U.S. president (Clinton) in the White House.