

CURRICULUM VITAE

Helene R. Fisher SLP.D., CCC-SLP

Education

- Diplomas: Undergraduate, Master's and Doctorate, 2002.
- SLP.D., Nova Southeastern University, December 2002.
Major: Speech-Language Pathology
Dissertation Title: Efficacy of Prolonged Nasal Cul-De-Sac on High Pressure Speech Acts (P.i.N.C.H.) on Hypernasality
- Certificate of Clinical Competence, American Speech-Language-Hearing Association (ASHA), 1984.
Major: Speech Pathology
- MA, New York University, May 1983.
Major: Speech-Language Pathology
- BSc. Hon in Logopaedics, University of Cape Town, December 1978.
Major: Speech Pathology and Audiology
Supporting Areas of Emphasis: Anatomy, Physiology, Neurology, Pathology, Linguistics, Psychology
Dissertation Title: Wingate's theory of stuttering: In-depth literature review

Licensure and Certification

- State of Florida. (1991 - Present).
- Certificate of Clinical Competence, American Speech-Language Hearing Association (ASHA). (1984 - Present).

Professional Positions

Professional

- Associate Professor / Program Professor, Doctoral Advisor & Clinical Supervisor, Nova Southeastern University. (September 2004 - Present).
Teach graduate level classes to students in Master's program in Speech-Language Pathology at NSU. Wrote the syllabus for "Voice Disorders" (SLP 6030, 3.0 credits, required course) and have been lead faculty since 1999. Wrote syllabi for, and taught "Craniofacial Anomalies" (SLP 6037, 3.0 credits) and "Hearing and Speech Science" (SLP 5004/CSD 5004, 3.0 credits). Taught "Research Methods" (SLP 6070, 3.0 credits) for 3 semesters. Taught "Trends and Issues" (EDD 9200, 6.0 credits) to Ed.D. students as invited instructor, for three semesters. Wrote syllabus for, and taught, "Directed Research"(SLP 6080) for three 1-credit semesters and contributed questions and answers to CAPSTONE for Voice Disorders, Craniofacial Anomalies and Hearing and Speech Science. Delivery systems included face-to-face, videoconferencing, on-line and hybrid. Have been managing the voice-resonance clinic at NSU since 1999 and supervising graduate students in SLP program (wrote syllabi and taught Advanced Diagnostics in Voice, SLP 6006, 1.0 credit, Seminar in Voice, SLP 6035, 2.0 credits, and Advanced Diagnostics in Cleft palate and Craniofacial Anomalies, SLP 6006, 1.0 credit) in evaluation and treatment of pediatric through geriatric clients as a specialist in voice and resonance disorders and craniofacial anomalies. Clients include individuals with cleft palate, medically complex laryngeal pathologies, and professional voice users such as singers, actors and celebrity performers.
Was doctoral advisor to three doctoral students in the SLP.D. program, two of whom won "Best Dissertation," (Darlene Graner and Kyriaki Kyriakou) and the latter of which was published in a peer-reviewed academic journal.
- Program Instructor and Clinical Supervisor, Nova Southeastern University. (April 1998 - August 2004).

Taught "Voice Disorders," a 3 credit required course to students in the Master's program in Speech-Language Pathology. Provided clinical supervision to students in the Master's program in Speech-Language Pathology in the evaluation and treatment of voice-resonance disorders, the treatment of delayed language and phonology and apraxia, the treatment of adult aphasia individually and in groups. Wrote syllabus for "Craniofacial Anomalies" (3 credits) and taught the course for several semesters. Rewrote the syllabus for "Hearing and Speech Science" and taught the course for several semesters (3 credits). Wrote syllabi for "Advanced Voice Diagnostics" and "Advanced Diagnostics in Craniofacial Anomalies" and taught these courses for three semesters. As key Speech-Pathologist with a specialty in Craniofacial Anomalies, participated on, and developed the policy, procedures and protocols for the Craniofacial Center and Team at Joe Di Maggio, Hollywood, Florida. Conducted research in the area of Craniofacial Anomalies, the results of which were incorporated into the team's procedures.

- Speech-Language Pathologist and Clinical Site Supervisor, Pinecrest Rehabilitation Hospital. (February 1992 - April 1998).
Provided evaluation and treatment to adults in outpatient clinic with voice disorders and cognitive and communication disorders and swallowing disorders associated with cerebrovascular accidents (e.g., aphasia, dysarthria, apraxia and dysphagia) and traumatic brain injury.
- Speech-Language Pathologist, North Broward Medical Center, Florida. (August 1991 - October 1991).
Provided evaluation and treatment services to adult inpatients with aphasia and dysphagia resulting from cerebrovascular accidents.
- Speech-Language Pathologist and Feeding Therapist, Spectrum for Living, Westwood, New Jersey. (October 1988 - June 1991).
Provided evaluation and treatment to adults with communication and feeding disorders associated with neurodevelopmental disabilities. Provided training in feeding techniques and strategies to staff
- Speech-Language Pathologist and Consultant, Speech Pathology Private Practice and Consultant. (January 1985 - December 1990).
Evaluated and treated pediatric patients with delayed speech and language and neurodevelopmental feeding and swallowing disorders and trained speech pathologists. Clients included: Muscular Dystrophy Association, Rusk Institute, NY; Total Learning Center, Scarsdale, NY; Sobol Physical therapy, Rockland, NY; Herbert G. Birch Early Childhood center, Riverdale, NY; Board of Cooperative Services (BOCES), Rockland County, NY
- Speech-Language Pathologist, Feeding Therapist, Rise East School, Pomona, New York. (January 1987 - June 1988).
Provided services (evaluation and treatment) to school-aged children with communication, feeding and swallowing disorders associated with developmental disabilities. Provided training in feeding techniques and strategies to staff.
- Speech-Language Pathologist and Feeding Therapist, Alcott Montessori Preschool, Westchester, New York. (March 1985 - January 1986).
Provided evaluation and treatment to preschool children with delayed phonology and language, apraxia and feeding. Provided training in feeding techniques and strategies to staff.
- Clinical Fellow, Speech Therapist, Clinical Supervisor, Ferncliff Manor for Children with Dev. Dis. Yonkers, NY. (March 1983 - February 1985).
Provided evaluation and treatment to children, 5 years to 18 years of age, with neurodevelopmental swallowing, and communication disorders. Provided training in feeding

CLINICAL PRACTICE

Speech-Language Pathology

- A. Manage the Voice-Resonance Clinic at Nova Southeastern University since 1999.
- Diagnostic programs included: a) Broward County School District (1999-2003): Conducting fiberoptic endoscopic evaluation procedures with an otolaryngologist, and administering acoustic (Visi-Pitch and Nasometry), perceptual and case history evaluation procedures for up to 8 clients, and providing counseling to parents, training of accompanying school SLPs, and supervising and training NSU SLP graduate students in Voice Diagnostics (Intermediate and Advanced levels). b) Craniofacial Team (1999-2003): Weekly participation at the Joe Di Maggio Craniofacial Center as the team's first SLP, developing and writing policies, procedures and protocols, conducting, presenting (state (FCPA, FLASHA), national (ACPA, ASHA) and international (IALP) forums, and publishing research, performing evaluations, participating on multidisciplinary medical team conferences and supervising and training NSU SLP graduate students (Voice Diagnostics, Intermediate and Advanced levels). The team status was promoted from one of 18 cleft palate teams in Florida to the fourth "Craniofacial Center," by the State of Florida, within two years. Performing nasopharyngoscopies and treatment for the team and supervising and training NSU SLP students. c) Voice - Resonance Disorders clinic (1999-present): Provide services to clients from referral sources in the general community. Conduct fiberoptic endoscopic (flexible scope and oral rigid scope with and without stroboscopy) evaluation procedures with an otolaryngologist, and administer acoustic (Visi-Pitch and Nasometry), perceptual and case history evaluation procedures and counseling while supervising and training NSU SLP graduate students in Voice-Resonance Diagnostics.
- Therapy programs (1999 - present): Developed treatment programs for hyperfunctional and hypofunctional voice disorders adapted from Joseph Stemple and Katherine Verdolini which continue to yield positive outcomes and consequently an increase in the number of referrals, an increase in the diversity of referral sources, an increase in diversity of pathologies, and an increase in diversity of pediatric through geriatric populations from medically fragile to elite voice users, professional singers and celebrity performers.

- B. Supervise NSU SLP graduate students in the treatment of pediatric through geriatric clients with disorders other than voice-resonance disorders (1998 - present): cognitive disorders secondary to traumatic brain injury, aphasia secondary to cerebrovascular accident, delayed language and phonology and childhood apraxia. (April 1998 - Present)
